The Truth About Haym Salomon

By FRANK J. CROSBY

CHICAGO,— I see by the papers that Sunday, January 6th, 1946 was declared Haym Salomon day by Mayor Edward Kelly and that he, and several groups representing various organizations, made a pilgrimage to the monument of Washington, Morris and Salomon located at Wacker Drive and Wabash Avenue, Chicago. The assumption is that Washington and Morris were minor characters in the "Birth of a Nation".

Numerous attempts have been made in the past hundred years to collect—through Congress—large sums said to be due Haym Salomon for monies which, the claimants contended, Salomon had advanced the Colonial Government to finance the Revolution. Principal spokesmen for these claimants in recent years have been the Federation of Polish Jews in America, headed by Benjamin Winter and Z. Tygel. So potent was this group that they "misled" President Franklin D. Roosevelt, former Mayor James J. Walker of New York, Governor Herbert H. Lehman, President Wilson, President Taft, Chief Justice Hughes, and numerous others into endorsing their claims either directly or indirectly. It was proposed to erect fitting memorials, magnificent monuments to Haym Salomon in New York City.

So vigorous was their campaign before the public and the Congressional Claims Committee, that certain other American Jews, aware of the true nature of Haym Salomon's services to the Revolution, actively opposed their claims. On February 26, 1931, Max James Kohler, prominent Jewish lawyer, official of various Jewish bodies and vice-president of the American Jewish Historical Society, wrote Congressman Emanuel Celler of New York a long and detailed report in what was intended to be an open letter on the subject of the claims made in behalf of Salomon.

Kohler cited a mass of evidence showing that Salomon, far from having been 'the Financier of the Revolution' was little more than a broker of Robert Morris, the true financial genius of the Revolution, and that, for his services, Salomon had been paid as brokers are usually paid —by a commission on all transactions in which he had a hand.

Stating that he had in his possession information which would "put an end, once and for all, to efforts to collect . . . hundreds of thousands of dollars claimed by the descendants of Haym Salomon, as due them from an 'ungrateful' country", Kohler thoroughly demolished the claims made by the Federation of Polish Jews.

Says Kohler: "Salomon's financial connection with the U. S. Government began only a few months before the Battle of Yorktown on Oct. 19th, 1781, which in effect ended the war in our favor . . . While we were in sore financial straits in 1781, the war would nevertheless have been won by us, had Haym Salomon never lived, and Russell's (Charles Edward Russell, Socialist writer who did a laudatory biography of Salomon) effort to depict him as practically the saviour of our country is absurd . . . . "

Kohler's conclusions, based on the evidence, are that: "Haym Salomon never lent the Government a substantial sum, probably not even one cent, despite the claims to the contrary advanced by certain of his descendants, in their own interest . . . "

The complete document, (Dr. Kohler's open letter to Congressman Celler) is on file at the Library of Congress giving more complete detail about Salomon than space permits here. Anyone doubting this data may write to the Library of Congress and get photostatic copies of this document for a fee of several dollars as this writer has done.

By WASHINGTON ADAMS

WASHINGTON, (Special),— Informed persons—a small minority of our American people —have long recognized that the New Deal's labor policies would end in disaster. The fake prosperity of war orders postponed the break.

The Wagner act was written by un-American leftwingers, with the object of hamstringing and crippling the free enterprise system in order that the American people might become disgusted with private employment and turn to an omnipotent (?) state socialism or communism for relief.

No more fraudulent piece of legislation ever came from the foxlike brain of a Marxian fanatic. It promised full powers to the "worker" class for the first time in Anglo-Saxon history, along with complete sub-ordination of the employing class. It promised all for the hands and feet of industry, with nothing for the head, and assured the hands a permanent full dinner-pail.

Thinking Americans saw through this wicked scheme and denounced it, but were rendered impotent when the leftwingers, who took over the New Deal in 1933 in a bloodless revolution, ALSO TOOK OVER THE G. O. P. OPPOSITION in 1940 and nominated the lifelong socialist Willkie. This fifth-column maneuver exposed to public view the unspeakable EVIL OF THE CONVENTION SYSTEM OF SELECTING PRESIDENTS.

General strikes would have been considered ANARCHY in former days. When the vicious Wagner act became law, it gave to national strikes the belligerent rights of CIVIL WAR—something which no free people should stand for.

America today faces the most perilous internal situation since 1865, and all because we have a weak President and a Wagner act calculated to produce industrial civil war.

ONE HUNDRED MILLION AMERICANS are victimized by fewer than 40 MILLIONS. Under the crooked Wagner act, the janitor of the building has power equal, if not superior, to the president of the company.

I wish here to quote from Alexander Hamilton one of the wisest of all truths that ever came from the brain of a man, and which should be taught in every school all over this earth. Said he:

"In every land, there is a natural tendency for mankind to divide into two parts—the few and the many. IF THE FEW HAVE ALL THE POWER, THEY WILL OPPRESS THE MANY; IF THE MANY HAVE ALL THE POWER, THEY WILL OPPRESS THE FEW. So, in order to prevent either from taking place, we should give to each a club so great and powerful that neither one can oppress the other."

This was the plan which Hamilton and the other founding fathers thought they had placed in the Constitution—to preserve our nation forever, by means of a DUAL CHECK AND BALANCE: the Senates to represent the few, the Houses of Representatives to represent the many; one to represent HOME-OWNERS, the other to represent the masses—the great unwashed majority.

The Wagner act was the most one-sided, unjust, tyrannical, brutal, prosperity-destroying measure ever passed by an English-speaking legislature.

How can it be abolished, or radically modified, without a true OPPOSITION PARTY, an honestly conservative REPUBLICAN party, freed of such political left-wingers as STASSEN DEWEY, BALL, AIKEN, AUSTIN, MORSE and MARTIN (of Massachuetts)?

SENATOR HOEY'S GREAT SPEECH

The classic speech of U. S. Senator Clyde R. Hoey of North Carolina during the FEPC filibuster should appear in the schoolbooks and anthologies of great American literature. It can be found in the "Congressional Record" of January 23, 1946 (No. 8.). I shall quote from it another time.

The Senator paid a tribute to the Negroes of his state, and told a story of a Negro worker, whom the New Deal had hired and was paying $90 a week. He refused to buy war bonds, "because," he said, "any government that pays me $90 a week for what I do is going to go broke, and I don't want none of its bonds."

Medical Lobby Tries to Block New York Measure

ALBANY, N. Y.,—The abracadabra of the medical profession was turning on all if its magic in an attempt to hypnotize the Legislature into defeating the anti-vivisection bill.

In the knowledge that they face certain defeat if the measure is permitted to go on the floor for a Democratic vote, medico-politicians were erecting verbal road blocks to prevent the bill from getting out of committee.

The medical lobbyists were reported concentrating on members of various committees into which the bill must fall before a vote is allowed on it.

"The medical profession will be retarded if you do not allow us to continue cutting up dogs," was the substance of the warning being served on members of the Senate and Assembly.

But— and the majority of Legislators realized it—no logical or scientific reason was advanced for the defeat of the bill which would bar the outmoded practice of dog vivisection.

WAR CRIMINAL IS STUPID

WASHINGTON, D. C.,—Althought he feared a telephone war warning to Pearl Harbor would be considered by the Japanese to be an overt act, Gen. Marshall nevertheless authorized a flight over Japanese mandated islands by armed photographic planes in November, 1941, he told the congressional Pearl Harbor committee.

Still a Zionist, Winston Churchill Says

NEW YORK,— Former Prime Minister Winston Churchill, leader of the opposition in the British Parliament, replying to reporters, on his arrival here from England, reiterated his opposition to the White Paper, and stated that he is "strongly in favor" of the joint Anglo-American Inquiry on Palestine.

"As you know, I am a Zionist from the very beginning of this experiment," he stated.

WANTS AMERICANS TO FIGHT ARABS NOW

Mr. Churchill, in America for a vacation, urged the United States to share Britain's burden in the solution of the Palestine problem. "I think too heavy weight has been thrown on Britain with the Arab and Moslem populations," Mr. Churchill said. "You (the United States) ought to come along, and I am sure far greater results can be obtained through the efforts of both nations. They might bring about a most happy solution for the whole world."

Should U. S. A. Go to War For Palestine ?

Philadelphia Daily News,
ATTN. Mr. Hagen

My Dear Sir:

Supplementing our conversation of recent date, and in view of the current hearing in Washington by the Anglo-American Committee of Inquiry on Palestine, we want to go on record as protesting further involvement of our nation in the affairs of Palestine. It is our belief that a people who would deliberately involve one nation in the affairs of another are both traitorous and un-American. To bolster up this accusation, we quote an article taken from the London Jewish Chronicle, dated March 3, 1939, and draw your own conclusions:

"If the Palestine Conference should result in the destruction of Jewish rights, that would not be a development which sane statesmen could contemplate with unruffled composure. In every deed, they would be confronted by the Jewish problem in a form more acute and urgent than at any time in history, and try how they would, they could not escape it. It would thrust up its hydra head at countless places in the diplomatic scene and block every avenue to international appeasement. In short, an established Jewish Palestine is not merely a Jewish or an Arab problem. In its absence... there will be no peace, toil the peacemakers ever so devotedly and hard."

Is this the reason there has been no official termination of the war? Can it be that until the affairs of Palestine are settled there can be no peace? Are we working up to world war three, by permitting this minority to invovle us with the Arabs, who have lived in Palestine for thousands of years, thus ensuring the Jews their Messianic plan of a world state, with power over the financial and natural resources of the world?

We are just inquiring citizens and taxpayers, and surely someone in authority must have the answers to these questions. Have you?

Yours very truly,

Prominent Jew Opposes Special Status for Jews

WASHINGTON,—Lessing J. Rosenwald, president of the American Council for Judaism, opposed creation of a Jewish commonwealth in Palestine in testimony before the Anglo-American Palestine Committee.

"Anything which sets up a separate state introduces the question of allegiance," said Mr. Rosenwald.

Fundamental Tenet Cited.

"One of the fundamental tenets of Zionism is that a man can go to Palestine as a right and not as a sufferance.

"As an American citizen I have the right to come into the United States. As soon as the Jewish state is set up I, as a Jew, would have the right to go to Palestine."

"That puts Jews in a different category from any people," he said, in that it would give them dual citizenship.

"Back the Attack With War Bonds !"

LOS ANGELES,—A "Patriotic Mother's" outfit is openly mailing out thousands of printed folders—the worst anti-Semitic stuff yet produced by an anti-Jewish organization . . . .. The folder is signed "Central Conference of Rabbis," Washington, D. C., and features the slogan "Back the Attack With War Bonds". . . . . Although the piece is dated January, 1944, it is being mailed now . . . . The main section reads as follows: "We, the Jewish Nation, trust you have had a Happy Holiday. If your dear ones were not with you, be consoled and happy in the knowledge that they were doing their duty to save God's Chosen People, and by their sacrifice they have made it possible to keep Jewish boys and girls busy at home making uniforms for Christians on the fighting front and the wheels of industry turning. Should they never return, take pride in the fact THEY DIED TO SAVE THE JEW. Fathers and mothers of our fighting boys do your part as you did this past Christmas in furthering our financial empire. Tyler Kent and Freedom of Speech

We received a letter, ostensibly signed by Tyler Kent, in which he urges us to use our influence to defeat a bill in Congress aimed at muzzling him and his knowledge of certain decoded messages between the late FDR and Churchill. We threw the letter in the waste-basket.

There is no law on the statute books today stopping Kent from printing or mimeographing the contents of those decoded messages and mailing them to all newspapers and interested organizations. The Congress and individual Americans, hundreds of others would take up the work from there.

Jail? What of it? There is William Dudley Pelley and Robert Noble. They are the two outstanding living American patriots today. They have told us in print and in speech what the Pearl Harbor investigation has proven officially, what the results of the war demonstrate, but they are still in jail. What of it?

Is Tyler Kent yet afraid of jail? Does time not pass? Tomorrow you and I will be counted among the dead, but not our souls if we deared to be true to our convictions as Pelley and Noble have.

We disagree most strenously with many ideas these 2 "seditionists" entertain. Their religious and political-economic philosophies are polarly opposite to ours, but as courageous men, as Americans true to their convictions, we must admit that they assayed FDR, Churchill and Stalin correctly and dared tell the facts and the truth, even tho jail be their lot.

LICENSING THE CLERGY

The Supreme court the other day upheld the right to distribute religious tracts on government property used for a housing development. The federal housing authority's resident manager at Navigation village in Medina county, Tex., had ordered a Jehovah's Witness to clear out. The Witness refused to do so, saying he had a constitutional right to engage in religous activities at that place. He was arrested at the manager's request and convicted. He lost his appeal in Texas, but the supreme court has now vindicated him.

"At the trial the manager testified that the controling federal agency had given him full authority to regulate the conduct of those living in the village and that he did not allow preaching by ministers of any denomination without a permit issued by him in his discretion."

That sentence should be pondered by those who think the drift into socialism is not worth opposing. The sentence should be studied, also, by those who think that socialism may prove inefficient, but the loss on that account will be more than balanced by its greater concern for human values. They ask, how can a collectivist government be anything but broadly tolerant and respectful of the Bill of Rights?

They have their answer from the lips of the manager of Navigation village. He claimed for himself the right to license preachers and churches as well as to regulate the conduct of his tenants and said he had law and departmental regulation to sustain him. If socialization proceeds, there won't be enough courts in the land to protect citizens from an arrogant burocracy, determined to show the people who is boss even in matters of faith.

—Chicago Tribune.

The Greatest Living Englishman

The Chicago Tribune and, naturally its owner Col. Robert McCormic, have rated Winston Churchill as the greatest contemporary Englishman. There are many in America today who concur in that estimate of the bloody bully. This gives us a clue as to why Americans did fight for the wily Johnny Bull.

Col. Robert McCormick, most probably, is the greatest living American Tory, for Tories are brethren under the skin, hence their mutual admiration. They are of the same breed.

Ostensibly McCormick is a fighter for American Republicanism, proud of the Principles of the U. S. A. Constitution, but, let the fruits speak for themselves.

While the Tribune beats the toms-toms for American, constitutional Individualism, what it means is, the type of individualism which permits the feudal Tory to rule over his subjects, even though, to some extent and in some features, the rule may be benevolent, but there is inherent in that rule the same brand of benevolence which Churchill has for Great Britain. By understanding the one the other becomes plain.

IS CHRCHILL THE GREATEST LIVING ENGLISHMAN ?

Winston Churchill has won a world war for the aggrandizement of Imperialism. In order to win he had to support imperialism everywhere against the freedom of individual peoples. The U. S. A. supplied the men and the materiel even though Russia gave many lives. But this war was one for survival of Imperialism and nothing else, since the combination of Tories, Banksters and Commies, all strove to the same end. Today the people, everywhere in the world, have less freedom than they had in the beginning of the century. Does that make Churchill the greatest living Englishman or the greatest living English bully ? !

Has Churchill improved the lot of the average Englishman, native Anglo-Saxon or colonial colored subjects, whichever one?

Greatness is inherent in goodness not in worseness, or does McCormick have a new yardstick? From Finland down to Indonesia, from Russia to the U. S. A., the individual has less freedom than ever in this century. How has Churchill profited the average Englishman whom he mortagaged even deeper into the clutches of the Usurers? !

Then why does McCormick call Churchill great? Because both are great bullies and admire the quality of the mailed hand in the velvet glove.

Thruout the war the Tribune, as all "patriotic" papers, played a double role. On one hand they sold America down the river FIGHTING for victory for Imperialism against the freedom of the individual peoples, on the other hand McCormick shed tears in protest against loss of Constitutional rights and privileges.

Any child could have told this patriotic sucker, and the millions of victims, that one cannot eat the cake and have it, too.

And so McCormick and Churchill are still brothers under the skin.

Victory Bonds, War Bonds, to Enslave the Americas

What became of those billions which Morgenthau poured out into Latin America? They bought submission of the southern republics to a conspiracy in the western hemisphere as criminal as the conspiracy which has made Russia the policy dictator of that part of the world which is not yet wholly in the clutches of the Tory-Bankster combination.

The billions donated to the "good neighbors" corrupted the Latin rulers into selling native and naturalized German-stock citizens into slavery to the U. S. A. We paid more than their weight in gold for every German slave we bought and shanghaied into our national barb-wire concentration camps.

What was the purpose of buying those German-stock citizens of the Latin-Americas?

No census has been published yet of the percentage of wealth owned and controlled by British-Tory-Bankster-Jews in the U. S. A. and the Americas. But, after the people of this nation have been bled white, one will see who emerges as the owners of valuable properties and titles to land and stock.

Every German-American in the stockades of the U. S. A. was more worth than his weight in gold to the international traders. Therefore the buyers of war and victory bonds paid for it. For everyday that those shanghaied slaves were kept behind barbed wires, the international traders appropriated the victims' business and business opportunities. It is a scheme to supplant the German white stock in the Americas with Jewish mongrel stock. He who is economic ruler also becomes political ruler by bribing the electorate and the legislative and executive departments in a "democratic" country.

Have The Jews A Right to Palestine ?

By Rev. DENIS FAHEY, C. S. Sp.

Have the Jews a right to Palestine as the portion of the earth's surface in which they may set up a seperate State?

It is clear from all that has been said about their rejection of the true Supernatural Messias that they no longer can lay claim to it by Divine Right. They were assigned that part of the earth as their inheritance on condition of their being obedient to God. They disobeyed God's command to hear His Son, by their rejection of Our Divine Lord before Pilate and on Calvary, and they persist in their disobedience.

Accordingly, there can be no question of a right based on a divine promise. In addition, the Arabs have a natural right to the country they have occupied for the last thirteen hundred years.

Canon Arendzen wrote as follows on this aspect of the question, in the Catholic Gazette of August, 1936: "The Arab population which has occupied the country for the last 1,300 years has definite and inalienable rights which must be respected. The Jews are foreigners in Palestine and the intrusion of vast numbers of foreigners, so as to swamp the native population, seems an act of unprovoked injustice. It would obviously be unfair if some great power by force made England a national home for the Danes, on the strength of that people once having been masters of this country, a thousand years ago. The Jews have practically evacuated Palestine since 138 A. D., and their intrusion into it, after having left it for eighteen hundred years, seems unjustifiable, on any known principles of equity. The Mandatory power, which at present is the government defacto, is clearly acting against elementary laws of fairness in promising to a race, alien in religion, speech and blood, a country already occupied by another nation."

"The Jewish claim to Palestine is implicitly a denial that they have disobeyed God and missed their vocation by the rejection of the Supernatural Messias. It is the assertion in action that the promised Messias has not yet come and that the day of their national domination over the world will yet dawn. The final result will inevitably be another disastrous blow to their hopes, for all their naturalistic attempts to impose their will on God, instead of accepting His, are doomed to failure, and every failure involves the Jewish nation in dire catastrophes."

Jewish Ritual Murder

Sir:

In a recent issue of The Broom, I note a sentence "Jewish Ritual Murder is Nonsense".

I do not know where this came from, but I can guess. My book on this subject is fully documented, chiefly from Jewish sources, and contains record of the confessions of 16 Jews who admitted that Ritual Murder was practiced by Jews; these confessions were made by Jews converted to Christianity. No one suggests that all Jews are ritual murderers; the rite is performed by a sect.

Lots of people thought it was all nonsense even in mediaeval times in Europe; but when King Edward 1st of England, and King Ferdinand and Queen Isabella of Spain, found it was not nonsense, they expelled the Jews from their realms.

I send you a leaflet about my book.

GERMAN NATION WARNED IT IS THROUGH FOREVER

MUNICH,—Count Hermann Keyserling, 65, German philosopher who during the nazi regime was nicknamed "Daniel in the lion's den" because he thundered against the Nazis and, despite all their efforts to silence him, still used his biting tongue against them, believes there never will be a German nation again.

"With Hitler, nationalism is finished," he said at his snow-bound village retreat of Harthausen, 60 miles south of Munich. "The time has come when we Germans must learn to think internationally: I believe there is no future for Germany, but there will be a great future for Germans as individuals."

"It is only humanity that really counts. In the hard bitter years that lie before Germany, I hope we Germans will see to it that we are worthy of the tasks that lie ahead."

FATHER TERMINIELLO

This one sentence in our December editorial on Father Terminiello was in error: "The defrocking of Father Terminiello of Alabama does not mean he ceases to be a good Christian."

The word 'de-frocking' was a regrettable mistake. While there should be no excuse for such a glaring error perhaps it can be attributed to a Protestant's ignorance of all Cotholic procedures and the fact that newspaper and radio accounts on Father Terminiello mentioned his 'de-frocking.'

The truth of the matter is Father Terminiello was NOT de-frocked. He is still a Catholic priest. At the present he has no parish. As a matter of fact it may be that Bishop Toolen did Father Terminiello and the millions of good, patriotic Americans a favor in his handling of the Father Terminiello case. He is now in excellent position to carry on his great work for fundamental Christianity and fundamental Americanism. For this we may all be thankful. Like many in the movement, though, Father Terminiello needs financial assistance.

Please find enclosed $3.00 with which send me The Broom for another year. I will not write a lengthy letter but will say I do enjoy reading The Broom.

The Galilean prayer you published recently comes from The Golden Scriptures. I am very happy to hear Tyler Kent reached home safely and will be able to tell his story.

Gerald Smith and Huey Long

ENROUTE FROM NEW ORLEANS, 1-19-46

Editor:

We heard Rev. Gerald Smith conferred in N. O., altho the press skipped it. We still admire Smith, he preached Charity and Democracy, and naturally it gave a wallop to the evil-doers. As president of the S. O. W. Society, Smith sought to "carry on," as he had promised its founder (late Senator Long) on his death bed. He was overpowered, beaten and driven from a N. O. jail and La., forced to give up its gold, sovereign bonds (the first in La's, history) and go on the W. P. A. Long paid the state out of debt and built a new Louisiana. He held the distinction of "The first man to oppose New Dealism," and Rev. Smith lost his pulpit, lovely home and fine salary to follow the Way and the Truth. The rascals who evaded income-tax payments were annointed and all sins forgiven by the noblest Roman of them all. The gang that betrayed Long and Smith, betrayed the State later on, but the brightest pages in La's. history belong to Huey P. Long. "He builded a State", as Brisbane told the world. He placed taxes on ones who pillaged the State for 50 years, he prophezised: "Fascism, which will be swallowed by Communism," and pleaded for adoption of the S. O. W. program in order to reap benefits for the needy. "Underprivileged," he declared: an un-American term and had no place in American dictionary." Today, I was told by a returned G. I. that in 1948, the centennial of the Marx-Engle Manifesto is to be celebrated by having Communism in all countries of the world. Yes, Huey Long was a man of vision and conviction. He preached spiritual unity and "the error of taking too much for granted, that our liberties and privileges were at stake. Among all peoples of this earth, we alone have freedom of speech, of assembly, press and religion. Guard and fight and die if necessary, for America." "Death loves a shining mark." He passed on a Christian, wife, family and friends beside him. He was not lonely and miserable with only a friend. Two wrongs do not make a right. Murder and New Dealism, Communism and World Government are Radicalism: the Red Gospel. We believe Shysterism (advisors) not Unionism are the cause of strikes, which are lawyers' meat, at the nation's cost. The shysters should be examined and debarred.

Best of everything to you and the staff,

The authorities felt they had been outwitted, but they knew that to make further investigation would incriminate them and place them in a possibly disastrous position.

Had it not been for the Imperial edict issued at the psychological moment, had it not been for the repealing of the warrant, the body of Master Yessu could not have been ordered taken down from the cross, not even by special permit of the procurator, Pilate, for the Roman law demanded death upon the cross, and that the body must remain "until bone after bone shall fall to the ground." Had the body been stolen from the cross the church authorities would have been justified in making an investigation, but as matters stood they were compelled to be cautious in their movements.

The Imperial prefects sent to further investigate the cause of the uprisings, the dissatisfaction and contentions of the masses, accepted the theory that the apparent peacefulness of the situation was due to the crucifixion of the Master, and took it for granted that the cause of the strife had been found and removed. Such a result of the investigation meant the saving of thousands of lives, for in the event of a thoro examination, from a point of justice, thousands of men entangled in political intrigue would have been dragged before the judgment seat, and this move would have proved a greater disaster than at first anticipated.

Thru the death of one man thousands had been saved from destruction and shame. Thru the death of one man the sins of thousands had been atoned for. The struggle and trouble among the contending forces had come to a standstill, for a time, at least.

On that eventful day, the first day of the week, a new order of things occupied the minds of the people, and even the faithful could hardly believe the story that had been heralded far and wide, "He liveth!" Like wild-fire it spread from mouth to mouth among thousands and tens of thousands, "He liveth!"

The opposition of the church to this declaration was fierce and bitter, but they were unable to disprove it, and to investigate further seemed inadvisable, considering the questionable position in which the church found itself. The local authorities had no reason whatever to further probe the case for it had been sufficiently proven to their satisfaction that the Man was pronounced "dead," and to them He was "dead." Being a case considered somewhat delicate they all feared to have anything further to do with it, for before them stood the Imperial edict now in the hands of Pilate, who no longer feared the threat once directed against him, but who was now keenly alert to meet any and every move on the part of his enemies.

Nicodemus and Mathaeli, who had followed Yudas the night he met them in the private path and saw him break thru the sealed door which fell outward under his terrible pressure, causing the soldiers to take flight, made it their business to conceal all possible traces which would aid in anyone discovering the underground passage. In the expectation of a possible return of the soldiers, the two men agreed to take their posts in turn to see what might be the result of the scare which had been inflicted so unintentionally.

At the break of day, while they were considering the steps most advisable to be taken, they heard footsteps approaching. Mathaeli, the younger one, received the approaching ones with the words, "What seek ye, the living among the dead? He liveth; go and tell His disciples."

Such a new revelation to the faithful was indeed like pouring oil upon the troubled waters, and was bound to create a great deal of excitement and arouse the curiosity of the remainder of the disciples. Altho Mathaeli had but thotlessly addressed the visitors with these strange words, they had their effect and others were brought to the scene, who, altho they had not seen the "angels," as claimed by former witnesses, saw that the body of Yessu was gone and the linen in which the body was draped lying in a heap on the ground. This sufficed to convince them that something extraordinary had happened.

With the coming of the day the two men in white knew only too well that it would be unwise for them to invite further inquiry, as detection of the true state of affairs might follow, and this they did not care to have happen, as other explanations would become necessary, which would invite complete investigation and result in probable exposure.

As the news of the resurrection spread from mouth to mouth, the men who knew better dared not further speak, as the fate of their most beloved friend and Master was at stake, and so were compelled to remain silent even tho against their will.

Now that the idea of the Master's resurrection became a firmly rooted belief, stories of His having been seen were widely circulated, even in instances where there was no foundation for such claim. Friends of the Inner Order, who, under cover of night, often carried messages to and from those who were directly connected with the Master's Inner Circle, at times became objects of delusion to the people and were believed to be the glorified body of the Master.

Thus, there was that memorable occasion when one of the secret friends of the Master was found upon his way to Joppa, to which he was going to carry to the Covenanters the message of his Master's survival. This friend, Raphaeli of Caesaria by name, being met by the Covenant disciples, desired to keep his mission secret, and joining them on the way to Emmaus inquired of the controversy between them, taking advantage of the opportunity to explain to them the inner meaning of all the events that had transpired, laying bare Moses and the prophets, making plain to their minds that altho the Master had suffered all had turned out for the best, and also stated that the work would more readily spread and bear better results than had ever been anticipated.

Being invited to their homes to partake of a midnight repast, Raphaeli, the apparent stranger, took the bread, and after raising it above his eyes and repeating the aphorism pertaining to the concentration upon the bread of life, broke it and passed it for them to eat. This was a ceremony and custom strictly adhered to by friends belonging to the Inner Circle, and the two disciples became alarmed, for such was the custom of their Master and no one had ever spoken those words but He.

Raphaeli, recognizing their surprise and seeing that he was being taken for the Master, did not care to create such an impression, consequently departed hurriedly into the darkness of the night, while the disciples certain of having seen the Master transformed fled to the city to carry the news of their discovery, and to tell how they had walked and talked with Him.

As no questions were ever asked as to identity, the case can by no means be stamped a deception, no more than any other incident connected with the life and mission of the great Master, who Himself declared that "God is no respector of person."

To expound the message of universal amnesty and instill the hope and determination of final emancipation to all mankind, were the leading features of the new evangel. Appearances or apparitions, phenomena or inexplicable occurences have no bearing upon a message in which the well-being of humankind is concerned. Embellishments added to a great teaching only too often divert the mind from the real purpose and intent, culminating in much harm.

True, the invalid mind clings to the phenomenal, like a drowning man to a straw, in the hope of catching the golden thread of life. In some instances hope thus raised may quicken the slumbering energies to renewed action and arouse tenacity to a degree bordering on the miraculous. But a mind keen to higher development and unfoldment, reaching out toward maturity, assuring the golden fruits of the spirit, leaves all the phenomena to its worth and promotes the real. Veteran Killer Objects to Conscience

Dear Mother:

I don't think I'm going to take furlough until after I'm transferred from Coleville. I'll probably be sent to either Minersville in Northern Calif., or to Lapine, Oregon. Both places are hell-holes between 750 to 1000 miles from L. A. I'll want to have days so that I can have some relief from either place. Also we have basketball games next Friday night. We are playing the U. of Nevada Junior Varsity.

I was hitch-hiking from Carson City back to camp a few days ago when I was picked up by an elderly man in a big Packard. He asked me if I was a returned service man. I told him I was still in service—a conscientious objector. Upon hearing those last two words, his previously warm, friendly manner suddenly froze: "You'll have to get out of the car," he said. It seemed he was some bigwig in the Veterans of Foreign wars. He acted as if it were against some law to have picked up or helped a C. O. I was very polite and took the affront gracefully and stepped out. Afterwards I became angry and thot of all sorts of things to say.

You may show this letter to the O. M. if you wish. Love, DAVID.

Congressman Gearhart of California says concerning the Pearl Harbor investigation: "This will not be the last Pearl Harbor investigation because all we are being given is spoon-fed evidence. We aren't getting all the facts."

His Dad Takes The Cake

Dear Dad:

For beating around the bush, you take the cake.

You have taken new issue with your argument upon new points incidental to my discussion, and chosen to neglect the fundamental question: "Police Power for Self-Preservation".

If you mean that esoteric religion is the power for self-preservation, fine, but that is not all the implication in your orginal article. You stood apparently for physical violence, as any rational observer could see.

As for the figure, "leaving matches within reach of children make one responsible for the damages", does this make God responsible for the deaths on Nagasaki, because He has given man the ingenuity to harness such destructive power?

The Supreme Powers have left all manner of forces here in this world that man can use, either for the better or worse, and has kept nothing without his grasp. It is for man thru his experiences to find that he will be far happier and wiser in a constructive use of these powers. Remember Karma. Give the world the benefit of the doubt. If they can only destroy, they ultimately destroy only themselves, and not you. Atomic forces are God's forces, and they are within reach of the rabble. The rabble is responsible for their destruction and perversion, not God. Your purpose as one of God's children is to set the example of constructive use of all the Natural laws that all may see benefits derived therefrom.

The "Santa Claus" was a sarcastic token open to all type of interpretation: Your have a right to yours. FRED.

ASSEMBLING ALL THE FACTORS

When Fred was a little shaver and was looking for some object which had been misplaced I noticed his impatience. After a few futile trys he hollered, "mamma, will you find it, I cannot".

His dad is a mathematician, engineer and logician. Among people working in engineering offices he noticed many like Fred, who, tho dealing with mathematical order, tried to "fudge" the result by arbitrarily changing some factor to "get the result" they were supposed to get if their figuring and application of factors and formulas had been exact and true. This characteristic of resorting to subterfuge and elimination of vital factors, when in practice one cannot tally what is perfect in theory and should tally, is a dangerous trait. It is intellectual lack of integrity, of persistence, of interest in the truth, of pride in accomplishment. His dad was continually placed in positions of responsibility to check on the office and field crews because he is and was a stickler for assembling ALL the factors necessary to obtaining the correct result and refused to change or eliminate "inconvenient" factors by simply ignoring them. In that way his work was always correct in principle as well as application, but it took immense patience and persistence, trial and error till in the end the result came out perfect.

Now, again, Fred is looking for the answer to a problem confronting him and the world. The times present to us the results of violence in government at home and abroad. The "rulers" everywhere ignore logic in procedure and arbitrarily substitute force for truth, might for right; they DRAFT the youth of the earth to murder one another and their families, in total suppression of reason, logic and discrimination and promise FREEDOM as a result, and PEACE by armed force imposed upon the victims of warfare. After a few trys, looking for the solution, Fred again hollers for help, from papa instead of mamma, and the Old Man refuses to hand the solution to his little boy but starts checking him in one item and another. The art of LIFE lies in doing YOUR OWN THINKING, so naturally, dad won't deprive Fred of his labors. But the boy is impatient, as were all the boys in dad's office and crews when the Chief-Checker sent back their figures and told them to do the work all over again until every detail was perfect and dovetailed.

So dad continues to take the cake and Fred has to learn to consider ALL the factors before rendering snap judgment, and Fred is merely a symbol of impatient, careless humanity.

To whom are we talking in THE BROOM? To the Saints of God on earth or to the sinners who yet expect to reap heaven by sowing hell?

And so, self-preservation has a different meaning for different people. Leagally speaking when someone attacks you, enters your house without a warrant from a court of law, you have the right to even kill him in an effort at ejection and self-defense. THAT is your police power as the sovereign in your castle. Of course, when discoursing on police-power in an article where Hans asks whether Hitler and Germany had no "right" to defend themselves against the chicaneries of the International Jews and the British Tories, one has to admit that under the natural LAW of self-preservation they had the SAME "right" to meet attack with equal methods and force, but did it solve the problem?

If we are to be asked whether in time of the foreseen invasion, as described in Washington's vision, it would be a crime to kill the invaders, naturally the burden of the crime falls upon the aggressors, not upon the defenders. "But", comes Fred, "that is un-Christian!" Yes, but so is aggression. They come to rule or kill, don't they?

The problem, then, reaches into deeper layers of LIFE, into the spiritual layers. Where there is LOVE of God, there are no aggressors and no self-defense. There is no conflict; the THOUGHT that outlined the universes, its purpose, and assigned to each actor his place in LIFE, being PERFECT, there is no hitch AS LONG as the actors obey and execute the instructions of the Directors. Then Fred is right that there is no NEED of self-defense by force; he is also right that all beating back of the aggressors does not improve the situation a whit, because if THE AMERICAN does not learn to obey God, his transgressions necessitate reaction from the victims who will continue to pay him back in kind. Only as the American sets the example of the Golden Rule in practice will America be safe.

LOS ANGELES, Sunday, Jan. 27,—When we become conscious of our divinity, we can see what an enormous detriment any sort of bad habit can be. One can't go farther until the load of ignorance is lifted. All bad habits are acquired thru ignorance, and are retained as a result of laziness and lack of sufficient love of the better things. Purification of the body and deeper set discipline can be attained by intelligent application of the power of breath, as Dr. Hanish has outlined in his reproduction of the Mazdaznan message under Health and Breath Culture.

It is very easy to lose a bad habit which society at large frowns upon, but it becomes increasingly a more trying task to throw off a load of ignorance which society rallies about: more specifically, dairy products. All the medics and "great" authorities shout for it with great gusto. It then centers upon the conscience of the individual to assert for his own well being these finer points of truth, and buck the social reproof.

Many here have felt in their hearts for a long time that dairy products were an unethical consumption, but they lacked the knowledge of the full scientific basis of their ill-effective use, while with the fear instilled by the authorities, we have neglected to give them up as a food. Now for the benefit of us weaker ones, such proof is available, and it is time we did our bodies a good deed.

From a standpoint of common sense, it seems that our late master (Dr. Hanish) incorporated the use of dairy products because the people to whom he was giving the message were not ready for a total drastic change to a complete vegetarian diet, since the glandular organs must have time to adjust themselves. The younger generation, however have no excuse for not making the total change, while the older generation who have been vegetarians now for some time should not rest on their laureus, but continue in their evolution, being now adjusted.

I will now read from a leaflet which has been published by, "The Vegetarian Society", Bank Square, Wilmslow, Manchester, England.

SHOULD VEGETARIANS EAT DAIRY PRODUCE ?*

By DONALD WATSON

The question of the use of dairy produce by vegetarians is likely to come more and more into prominence as the years go by. Ten years ago it would have been difficult to find anyone in this country living entirely on food of plant origin, but today there are many of us. In fact the implications of dairy farming are now beginning to dawn on our consciences in much the same way that the implications of butchery attracted the attention of moral, thinking people, a century ago. Where tradition stands in the way of fuller development, it is tradition that has to go if progress it to result.

Before mentioning the evidence that has overwhelmed some of us and turned us away from the use of dairy produce, and in order to understand the problem fully, I will first give the reasons favoring it use:—

1. Dairy produce is rich in food substances Which the body must have, either from dairy produce or from some other source, if health is to be maintained.
2. The great majority of doctors, unorthodox as well as orthodox, advocate the use of daiy produce. Most of them advocate its liberal use, and believe the protein in such animal foods to be superior to vegetable protein.
3. Milk is a complete food, containing the sixteen bio-genic elements of which animal bodies are composed, therefore it is a great bulwark against malnutrition. Cheese is a cheap protein food of which nearly all dieticians approve.

4. Dairy produce is pleasant to the taste of most people, and it makes for greater variety in the diet. It is extremely useful in cookery.
5. The production of dairy produce means a bigger animal population, and this is useful in maintaining soil fertility.
6. Beneficial results are claimed for the use of milk in certain illnesses. Milk is also useful for feeding babies whose mothers are unable to feed themselves.

Taken together, the above form a strong argument to justify the continued use of dairy produce, and those who seek to condemn its use must find evidence strong enough to meet all these points. Such evidence, however, appears to exist, and it suggests that whether viewed from the ethical, the aesthetic, the hygienic or the economic standpoint, the use of these foods stands condemned.

The obvious criticism to the above reasons for making use of dairy produce is that they are based on expediency and not on principle. A somewhat similar list could readily be compiled to aim at justifying the use of flesh-food. Convenience, popularity, economy, or a promise of safety do not in themselves sanction an action. Many of the worst crimes in history had such backing. Principle demands consideration, and it can be omitted from any calculation only at our peril. (To be continued).

True Mazdaznan Life Impracticable for Americans ?

LOS ANGELES, Sunday, Jan. 27,— After Fredric de Aryan had concluded an outline of modern dairy and poultry farming and placed it on a level with butchery for "food" and vivisection for "health". Henry Sorge, successor to the spiritual leadership of the late Dr. O. Z. Hanish, asked permission for the floor and announced details which few Mazdaznans had known before.

In the Temple retreat, at El Karman, where Dr. Hanish had received his education in Sunworship, said Sorge, the community lived in perfect abstinence from flesh, dairy and poultry products, such as eggs. When the late master first taught Mazdaznan in America he also taught adherence to the original system of true Aryan diet, but as the cases of light-headedness, bordering on insanity, increased among his students he discovered that the pure diet refined the nervous system to a point where it could not cope with prevailing brutal commercial influences in America. Hence he decided that it was impossible to live according to the Temple standards in the American mental atmosphere. To cope with existing conditions he incorporated dairy and hen-yard products in the dietetic education of his followers. To live the true life is possible only for those who seclude themselves from "civilization" and take no part in the daily life of the American people, said Sorge. The others, who try, are bound to become "light-headed."

Since Fred, as leader of the services, had quoted facts and figures, showing the cruelty, inhumantiy and lack of functional, dietetic, biochemical advantages of animal lactic and hen-egg products, the revelations of Sorge were received with mixed reactions. Some were relieved that they would not have to give up their old habits, others were outraged that the American Mazdaznan leadership has not found the right and infallible way of living to cope with American conditions and not be murderers and torturers of animals who are cruelly exploited to yield dairy and egg products.

Twelve Fatal Defects in "FEPC" Says Senaor Hoey

Star Chamber Kangaroo Courts, No Jury Trials and Vicious Persecution of Employers, Says Senator From N. C.

WASHINGTON (Special),—In his masterly address before the U. S. Senate, concerning the vicious Red "FEPC" measure, Senator Clyde R. Hoey of North Carolina pointed out twelve serious defects, all un-American and all more or less UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

The evils were, as follows:

"1. It denies to any person who employs as many as six people the right to select his own employees.

"2. It prevents him from discharging an employee if he is not satisfactory.

"3. It sets up a Commission of five in Washington to have charge of the employers of the Nation, individuals and corporations.

"4. It provides this Commission with an army of investigators to send over the Nation to work up charges against employers upon any complaints.

"5. It gives these investigators the right to enter a person's place of business and examine his books and papers without process from any court, in an effort to get evidence upon which to bring charges against him.

"6. It forces a man to give evidence against himself, depriving him of his constitutional rights.

"7. It provides for an examiner to hear evidence and send the record off to Washington, where a decision can be rendered against him in absentia.

"8. It denies him any right of appeal from the findings of fact against him.

"9. It denies him a trial of his case by jury or before a judge of any court.

"10. The Commission can order the employer to hire anybody that it names and make him pay back wages for refusing to hire them in the first place, and it can assess fines and penalities against the employer and have him placed in jail if he refuses to obey the orders.

"11. It can have the employer brought into the United States circuit court, hundreds of miles from his home or place of business, to have its orders put into effect, and when he gets there, under this bill, THE COURT CANNOT OVERRLUE THE COMMISSION'S FINDINGS if there is any evidence to support them, however flimsy the court may find the evidence to be.

"12. It provides a fine of $5,000 and one year in prison for any person who hinders or interferes with the Commission or any of its agencies in any of its works."

It was the enumeration of so many vicious features by Senator Hoey and others that caused the Red Socialist Senator Morse of Oregon to announce his plan for many amendments. But no amendment can overcome the chief objection, which is that the bill (S.-101) is calculated and framed so as the DISCRIMINATE AGAINST NATIVE WHITE CHRISTIAN AMERICANS numbering 120 millions, in favor of 20 millions of minority groups, such as Negroes and Jews.

Its Red backers are determined that, if there is unemployment in the future, it will be among native whites rather than among the Negroes, Jews, Japanese and Russian-Americans. The horse's tail must come first, ahead of the horse.

LATIN AMERICANS INTERNED BY THOUSANDS

NEW YORK,—The curtain was lifted on the war time deals allegedly made by the United States with most of the Latin American nations which permitted the arrest of thousands of nationals of other countries and their internment here as enemy aliens.

The disclosures were made by George C. Dix, internationally known lawyer, who represents 86 of the internees and has been working on the case for months.

He said that about 7,000 South and Central Americans have been interned here as "enemy aliens," altho the number previously had been represented as being around 300.

4,000 ALREADY DEPORTED

About 4,000 of the internees, he said, already have been deported to Germany, many of them despite being citizens of other countries. They were sent away regardless of their protests and the fact that their wives, children, and parents remain in the western hemisphere.

Tho he has worked on the case for six months and spent five weeks in South and Central America making personal investigations, the attorney said he has been unable to learn the specific charges on which the internees are being held.

MEN HELD 3 YEARS

The attorney telephored Dean Acheson, acting state secretary, to learn the department's policy as a result of the freeing of two Guatemalan citizens by the Federal court in Fargo, N. D. The men, Carlos Daetz Villella and Helmut Sapper, had been held three years as nazi sympathizers.

Dix said Acheson amazed him by saying he never heard of the matter, and did not know there were such internee camps in this country. When the attorney attempted to protest what he considered an attempt to evade the issue, the telephone connection was broken. His attempts to phone again to Acheson brought the assertion that the secretary was unavailable.

The attorney recalled that the state department must have been well aware of the case for it was castigated by Judge Alfred C. Knox in Federal court here in October for its handling of the Latin American cases.

The occasion was a conference, called in federal court, to agree on a procedure for handling the cases. It was attended by attorneys representing defendants, and representatives of the state department, justice department, United States attorney's office, and the immigration department.

NOT PROBLEM OF U. S.

Judge Knox referred to the state department's tricks in bringing persons here from South America and compared it to the Russian practice of shipping undesirables to Siberia. He said the conduct of the state department was abhorrent to him.

The judge observed that if the South American countries had objections to the nationals involved in the matter, it was their right to intern them, to deport them, or do whatever else their laws provided. But under no circumstances, he declared, was it the problem of the United States to intervene.

After hearing all sides Judge Knox instructed the state department representative t go back to Acheson and report his views.

"And this is the same Acheson," said Dix, "who told me he knew nothing about the matter."

CITES ORAL AGREEMENT

Dix said that apparently the United States, was able to enforce its demands for the arrest of nationals of other countries thru an oral agreement between this country and the governments of South and Central America nations.

So far as could be learned, he said, only Mexico, Argentina, Brazil, and Columbia refused to make the deal with the United States.

He said that nationals of Bolivia, Panama, Costa Rica, Ecuador, Nicaragua, Honduras, El Salvador, Guatemala, and Paraguay have been brought to this country and interned.

The war time agreement was to remain in force as long as hostilities continued, and could be justified as a war measure if there was any doubt that the accused threatened the security of the western hemisphere, the attorney said.

STILL SEIZING THEM

But tho the war has been over for six months, he said, the United States is still seizing nationals of Latin American countries and refusing to repatriate the internees to their own countries despite their governments' demands to our state department that this be done.

ROSENMAN ENDS CAREER AS AID TO PRESIDENTS

WASHINGTON, D. C.,—The retirement of Judge Samuel I. Rosenman as special counsel to the President, effective Feb. 1, was annouced by Mr. Truman.

The President told his news conference that Judge Rosenman would return to private life in New York City at that time, but that Rosenman had agreed "to come to Washington from time to time, without compensation, to continue to rended whatever assistance and advice to me he can."

OSWEGO EMPTIES AS TRUMAN ORDER GOES INTO EFFECT

OSWEGO,—The first 95 of the 900 Oswego refugees stepped across the Canadian border Jan. 17 to reenter the United States that very evening, equipped with immigrant visas issued with President Harry Truman's directives. Happy at the ending of their internment, which for some began at the outbreak of the war in Europe, many of the refugees felt strangely uncertain, insecure and shy in the face of the full, unaccustomed liberty facing them, as their long-cherished dream leaving the Oswego camp began to materialize.

MORGAN DEFIES RESIGNATION ORDER

LONDON,— Lt. General Sir Frederick E. Morgan, British UNRRA chief in Germany, whose allegations against European Jews set off a world-wide sensation, has for the second time flatly refused to comply with orders from UNRRA headquarters here that he resign, a spokesman for UNRRA said. The spokesman added that UNRRA is drafting a new set of instructions, ordering the General to London to "give him a gentleman's chance to resign." Meanwhile, he said, the situation has reached a "temporary stalemate."

CALLS FOR TRAINING OF JEWISH YOUTH

NEW YORK,— A more serious educational program for Jewish children was advocated by Rabbi Abraham E. Millgram, who discussed "Post-war Planning for American Jewry" at a meeting of the Ocean Parkway Jewish Center, 550 Ocean Parkway, recently.

"Jewish congregations in America must take their education program for the young more seriously than ever for two good reasons," Rabbi Millgram declared. "The first is the fact that the slaughter of practically all Jews in Central and Eastern Europe has eliminated sources of reinforcement for Jews here in America.

"Secondly, there is the fact that outside of Palestine, the American Jewish community is the only community of any size in the world. Therefore our congregations here must consider their schools as the principal purpose for their existence."

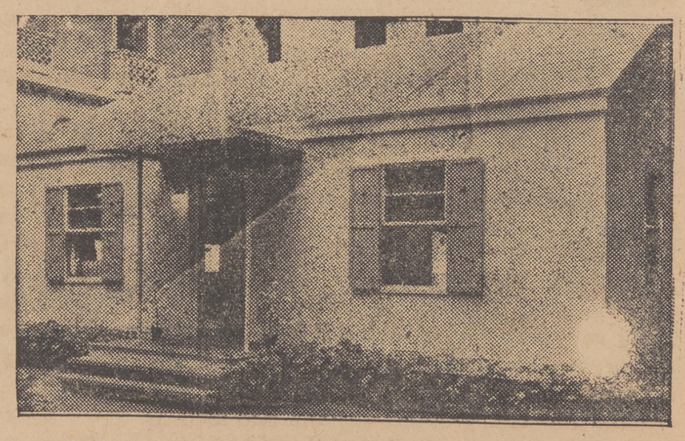
POSSIBLE ANSWER TO HOUSING PROBLEM



Built of plywood and covered with cotton canvas duck, houses like these, which sell for approximately $1,500, may help solve the nation's housing shortage. The Farm Security Administration has reported them to be satisfactory low-cost dwellings after six-year tests in Alabama and Florida. An Alabama farmer who owns a cotton house recently said of his home: "It'll still be here when I pass on, and it's so warm my grandchildren won't have to chop much wood in the winter time."
